Which make me delirious!

From every!

It took three men to hold me on bed at times!

The Doctors tried in vain to relieve me but to no purpose.

Had no effect!

After two months I was given up to die!

When my wife heard of my case she said, "I have found a cure for you."

She then sent me a bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and I took them for two months.

Before I had taken the first bottle I felt better, and at the end of two months I was well and strong, and taking a hard cold. I was taken with the most acute and painful rheumatism, and through my system that was known.

I called the doctors again, and after several weeks they left me a cripple on crutches for life.

One day a friend and I went to the city, and I was in less than four weeks I threw away my crutches and went to work as usual. I was using the bottles for five weeks, until I became as well as any man living, and have been so for years since.

I have never felt better, and my children and I have had no more of the same trouble per year. There is no need to say at all that these letters are true. J. H. HEN.

In the notice of "Sanitary Suggestions" published in Saturday's issue, the compositor destroy bad smells, and antiseptics, which arrest putrefaction."

Threatened Danger.

Shortly after four o'clock on Saturday afternoon, the smoke stack on Mr. Job Langham's saw saw on the top of the mill, and for a time threatened the safety of the entire property. The tongue of flame reached fully ten feet above the smoke stack. The wind was blowing from the south-west, and carried the smoke to the roof of the mill and the yard beyond.

The shingles in several places were ignited, and the flames were seen in the yard.

Mr. Langham was on the mill at the time and by his systematic management of the men about the mill, soon had the flames extinguished. The loss of time in stopping the mill was the heaviest damage done to the property, but the fire was not so dangerous as it appeared at first, for the fire brigade were called out, but were not required before they reached the scene of danger, that their services were not required.

Street, which will be forty feet high when completed. The arch over the roadway of the street will be twenty five feet from the street, and over the road will be on each side, sixteen feet. The design is neat and tasteful. At the junction of Bridge and Front Streets a lofty pole will be erected and from its streamers of evergreen and banners will be carried to each of the four corners. Those wishing to contribute to decorations can have them supplied free by making application to the members of the Wonderful Performance.

The Peterborough Review says: "The unusually large audience at the Lansdowne link on Friday evening must have been well pleased with the entertainment provided. Messrs. Westbrook and Harker, the double trick bicyclists, completely electrified the spectators with their marvellous and daring feats on the bicycle.

These two gentlemen perform all their acts on the one bicycle, and the double feats are really wonderful. One could scarcely imagine that it was even possible for two men to go through such an en-number of evolutions on a bicycle; yet when looking at the performance of Westbrook and Harker it does seem as if one ought to look at it. From beginning to finish there was not a moment's rest or misgiving in their performance. They performed an exhibition of unicycle riding, and other feats, and the large wheel of the bicycle with the rear attachment taken off, surprised the audience equally as he did the spectators on the street, when he rode the wheel in front of the band from the office in the early part of the evening. The performance of these clever fellows is not confined to the bicycle alone. At the conclusion of the bicycle and unicycle acts, they took up their position in the center of the rink and gave an exhibition of acrobatic feats that would put many a circus performer to shame. Mr. Brown, the manager of the Lansdowne, is to be congratulated on bringing such first-class artists to Peterborough, and the public show their appreciation by turning out in large numbers to attend the rink."

Westbrook and Harker will open a three days' engagement at the Bicycle Park in Belleville on Thursday evening under the management of the Rambler's Wheel Club.

The Franchise Bill.

The Franchise Bill received its second reading in the Senate on Friday, after considerable debate on Mr. Scott's amendment for the six months trial. The motion was eventually negatived by 17 to 33.

The Orange Lily.

A Church Parade and Bazaar by Grand Orange Lily, Sunday, July 13th, passed very quietly in Belleville. Save for the church parade in the afternoon, few would have been reminded of the importance of the day which is commemorated for deeds of "valor done in the cause of freedom"—in 1836.

Between three and four o'clock in the afternoon the Orangemen, True Blues and Prentiss Boys, some one hundred strong, who had assembled at the Orange Hall on John St., formed in line, and headed by their Marshal, Mr. Service, paraded over the lower bridge, then over Coleman Street to Christ Church, where they were joined on each side of the centre aisle. The Deputy Grand Chaplain of British North America,

Rev. John Halliwell, of Millier, preached the annual sermon from the following text:

Exodus XII, 14.—And this day shall be unto you for a memorial; and ye shall keep it a feast to the Lord throughout your generation; ye shall keep it a feast by an ordinance forever.

He said the words of the text had reference to a particular incident where God was preparing His children for a peculiar deliverance from physical bondage. God's great purpose in delivering the children of Israel from Egypt was to save for Himself a people for a particular work, and to prepare them for this it was necessary to remove them from the contaminating influences of the Egyptians and place them in a land where they would have the most favorable surroundings for the purpose.

After their removal they became powerful, but it must be noted and remembered that in every instance where the Children of Israel suspected their ordinance they lost their strength. He asked what was the object in giving the ordinance referred to in the text to the Children of Israel? It was that succeeding generations might ever thoroughly understand the reason for their ordinance. Then he said, and so it is with the day which we, as Orangemen, are assembled to commemorate. We are to be faithful to the trust committed to us and use the memory of the past as an incentive to present duty. The cry raised by some that the work Orangemen were intended to do was not to be listened to. Their work was not done until priestcraft was undone and the people of all the land brought before God with Christ as their mediator. He said the foe our forefathers contended against

MARRED LIVES.

A Story of the Last Franco-Prussian War.

(BY JOHN T. HAWK, OTTAWA.)

She strove to keep her tears back, but in vain.

"You still love me, Agnes," said Joseph, "I am positive of it, I can see it in your eyes. Say I believe myself daring, say that you still love me, and I will follow you, and when I am recovered."

All becoming more emboldened by the seeming yielding of Agnes to his wishes he pressed a kiss upon her lips. Instantly all the old love for him which he had vainly endeavored to smother, assumed the place of the old love, and he was again the man, and yielding himself to his unconscious and conscious love.

The door was opened, Joseph emerged, and called to her to "quickly follow him."

These more the better proofings of her nature caused her to pause and look back. She saw the better proofings of her nature, and she saw the better proofings of her nature, and she saw the better proofings of her nature.

At this moment the child in the cot, which had been forgotten, uttered a cry. Instantly all the old love for him which he had vainly endeavored to smother, assumed the place of the old love, and he was again the man, and yielding himself to his unconscious and conscious love.

HOME AGAIN

Belleville's Welcome to the Heroes of Batoche.

The Streets Decorated in Their Honor.

Their Appearance After the Campaign.

REMEMBERED BY THE LADIES.

ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION ALONG THE LINE OF MARCH.

GUARD OF HONOR FOR THE WOUNDED.

Address and Presentations at the Formal Reception on the Market.

THE HEROES BANQUETED BY THEIR COUNTRYMEN.

Street Decorations and Fireworks.

The citizens of Belleville have not forgotten the 25th of March, when the first alarm aroused them at 10 a. m., to afford protection to a threatened home within the city limits with a baptism of water, but to men, brave and true, who would volunteer to protect the integrity of their country, to protect it if needs be, by the shedding of their blood.

To the honor of our city it is recorded that the first bells did not call in vain. Before the setting of the sun, 90 men, most of them beardless, had enlisted.

They came from banks, law offices, colleges, and from every walk of life, ready for any service that the country might demand.

On April 1st our citizens turned out to meet the men who had been sent to the front on a mission in which life and death seemed evenly balanced.
